Podere Magia Lambrusco 2016 (Reggio Emilia)

Stefano Pescarmona, an agronomist, moved from Piemonte to Emilia in order to establish his winery. It is encouraging to see new blood coming in, especially in an area where wine prices are humble. Stefano practices no-till farming on his particularly dry land. He is committed to the bubble and makes super-lovely bottlings of Spergola and Trebbiano. But this 2016 Lambrusco was really a wonderful addition, with its gentle uplift of volatility, savory thread, and velvety texture.

Camillo Donati Malvasia 2016 (Parma)

Ah, Camillo! Such beautiful wines he makes from his profoundly silty slopes. This one is extremely refreshing and built for refreshment in hot weather. It's scratchy and filled with flavors of honey and lavender blossoms.
